

Sighlence

By Jared i.Greene

The silence is deafening in these tiny little boxes.
Cram packed together, silent little boxes.
not a single creature stirs out in the cold,
neither bird
nor bunny
nor cat
or
a small child
running outside
with a glistening
smile
smirking.
Screaming
for play time outside
of the kooked up house
and time to spend
some E

N

E

R

g

instead these musty boxes with smaller boxes that glow false. I m a g er y ~

And if you choose to live within these tiny close boxes but refuse to observe smaller realities and you have solitude
and no music
and no film
and no friends
and no one..<3
and no game
and no series
and no book
just
ear PIERCING
HIGH PITCHED
brain N U M B I N G
utter and complete
silence.

even on mute the world still feels loud, it's yelling at the top of its lungs with the volume down low.
that ringing of silence.
it's deafening